FLAT, Alaska, July 20.—(AP)—Two around-the-world solo fliers arrived in Alaska today, Wiley Post damaging his Winnie Mae in a difficult landing here, and Jimmie Mattern, who wrecked his plane in Siberia, landing at Nome as a passenger in a Soviet ship.

Post was unhurt as the Winnie Mae nosed over, bending the propeller and damaging the landing gear, and mechanics immediately set to work in hopes of repairing the ship in time for a takeoff for Edmonton and New York tomorrow morning. Post had been lost for seven hours before he saw the landing field here.

Mattern's plane, piloted by a Soviet aviator, arrived in Nome at 7:10 p. m., eastern standard time, after being forced down once a few miles short of its goal by fuel shortage. Mattern left Khabarovsk, Siberia, June 14, in his dash around the world and crashed on his plane in a forced landing near Anadyr.

Post, co-holder of the around-the-world record with Harold (Gatty), left Khabarovsk at 9:58 p. m., eastern standard time, yesterday and had been in the air 22 hours and 42 minutes when he landed here.

He ran into rough weather soon after starting across the Bering Sea and his first glimpse of the American continent was some mountains he saw through the clouds near Nome.

He followed the Iditarod river for several hours without knowing where he was. He was sighted several times but apparently could not find a landing field. He appeared over Flat at 4:00 feet and soon came down to the field in an easy glide. The Winnie Mae bounced three times and nosed over.

Post was very nervous and extremely tired when he landed. He was rescued by natives and the Soviet government went to his aid.

Mattern hoped to borrow a plane here, return to Anadyr and continue his solo flight around the world.

Both Mattern and Post were trying to break the Post-Gatty record set in 1931.

Wets Win in Tennessee

Repeal Advocates in Western Part of State
Overcome Early Lead Rolled Up by Republican Sections in East.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 20.—(AP)—Tennessee today became the nineteenth state to vote for repeal of the prohibition amendment in a ding-dong battle that left the repealists with a scant 10,000 majority, while the wet vote returns had been reported and gave the drys the satisfaction of the closest fight in any state since repeal voting started.

Unofficial returns from 1,910 out of 2,232 precincts gave: For repeal, 121,489; against repeal, 111,687. The 322 missing boxes were small and scattered over the state. It was estimated that they held several thousand fewer votes than the 9,582 needed to overcome the repeal majority.

Republican east Tennessee, part of which is located in the eastern time belt, came through with the first returns and piled up a heavy anti-repeal vote that exceeded 3-to-1 in the first district.

But the democratic stronghold in the south, composed of Shelby county (Memphis) crashed through with a repeal majority in excess of 30,000 and turned the tide. Until Memphis' heavy vote rolled in, the drys had been in the lead on every tabulation.

Nashville turned in a 9,000 majority for repeal, and incomplete returns from Chattanooga showed repealists more than 1,000 in the lead. Knoxville went for repeal by a scant 208.

Tennessee was the nineteenth state in a row to vote to cast off national prohibition and the third southern state, Arkansas and Alabama having gone into the repeal columns two days ago in the first tests of the eighteenth amendment in the south.

The 63 delegates elected by the state-at-large are pledged to repeal in the convention to be held in Nashville August 11.

The vote in Tennessee was the closest of any in the 19 states, and the drys' lead in early tabulations was the first time they had held an advantage.

Tennessee's vote in favor of repeal will have no bearing on the state-wide prohibition statute enacted in 1909 and the bond-dry law passed eight years later. A change could be made only by the legislature, which does

Chicago Board of Trade
Closed Today; Wheat

Fall Rapidly.

CHICAGO, July 20.—(AP)—Following the treacherous trading session in which grain prices took one of the worst hammerings in history of the exchange, directors of the board of trade tonight decided to suspend trading in grain and provision futures tomorrow.

The decision was reached at a third emergency meeting called within the space of a few hours to consider the unprecedented selling wave that swept the market yesterday and today.

The directors said their action was taken to permit employees of brokerage houses a much needed rest, and "for no other reason."

"The brief holiday," Robert C. Boylan, vice president of the board said, "is being taken to afford some measure of relief to the employees of commission houses who have worked loyally day and night for the last several weeks under what has been a record volume of business."

A similar situation was encountered a few weeks ago when three shortened trading sessions were adopted by the exchange to give the employees a rest.

Officials said no word had been received from Washington with a bearing on the situation and emphasized the action was taken voluntarily.

Associated Press Staff Writer. The worst collapse of the grain markets has witnessed in a generation or longer was experienced today.

The debacle saw wheat prices falling 17 cents a bushel, rice off 26 1/2 cents, corn almost 15 cents and oats more than 10 cents. Trading was hysterical and at the last the whole market was in a state of confusion.

Independent Action Advocated by Briton

LONDON, July 20.—(UP)—In a speech at the Advertising Association tonight, Lord Runciman, president of the board of trade, rejected the world economic conference in favor of independent economic action by Great Britain.

"If the world economic conference is not prepared to enter into a genuine convention, then we are prepared to enter into commercial agreement with any nation treating us decently," Runciman said.

He spoke only a few hours after it had been understood the present trade treaty would be renewed by the leading nations for the duration of the world conference recess.

Runciman said he hoped within a week or two to conclude a commercial agreement with Finland. Meanwhile, he said, negotiations are proceeding with Latvia, Estonia and Lithuania.

He turned down the idea inherent in President Roosevelt's policy and said that whatever was happening in Washington, Britain was determined to remain on a stable basis.

Banker May Be 'Ditched' in Favor of Atlantan
Who Bolted Democratic Party in '28.

NEW ORLEANS, July 20.—(AP)—A bandit raid on the St. Roch branch of the Whitney National bank was frustrated today when two tellers simultaneously stepped on floor buttons, releasing blinding tear gas bombs.

The bandits beat a hasty retreat and customers and employees of the bank also were forced to evacuate the building quickly.

Reports that Ryburn G. Clay, president of the Fulton National bank and manager of the democratic party's successful campaign fund drive in the state last year, would be "ditched" from the proposed committee of three which will supervise the public works program in Georgia to make room for a prominent politician who bolted the party in 1928 were discounted by dispatches from Washington last night which indicated that administration leaders are still favorably considering Mr. Clay and that his appointment is probable.

Sensational developments came fast Thursday following publication of a dispatch from Washington that Mr. Clay's name had been withdrawn. The banker issued a public statement asserting that he had been informed by Harlan Branch, executive assistant to Postmaster-General James A. Farley, that "he and others could not consent to my appointment" and so withdrew rather than enter a controversy for the post.

Governor Talmadge got Secretary of the Interior Ickes on the long distance telephone and warned the secretary that the governor's recommendation of Mr. Clay was in danger of being ignored in favor of one who had led the bolt against the democratic ticket in 1928 and who had proclaimed his republicanism at that time.

"If a thing of this kind is to be put over," the governor told Ickes, "there will be thousands of Georgians who will want to know the reason why and I won't mind telling them."

Although the governor mentioned no name other than that of the banker, Washington dispatches said that in addition to Mr. Clay another Atlantan, Arthur Lucas, was being considered and pointed out that, as it was unlikely that two men would be chosen from the same city, one or the other would not be named to the board.

From Washington Branch issued a statement saying he had discussed

'Disowned' by Parents

DENVER, July 20.—(AP)—The young parents of a six-week-old golden-haired boy told Judge George Lerg in juvenile court today that they "detest the child," and, at their request, the baby was ordered committed to a state home for dependent and neglected children.

Maynard Erkenbeck, construction laborer, said he and his wife "can't be bothered with a baby because we detest him and don't want him around." The infant's mother, Mrs. Margaret Erkenbeck, corroborated her husband's statement.

"We don't want the boy. We want to get rid of him," she said.

In granting the parents' request to take the child Judge Lerg said he was not doing so to free them of their rightful responsibility, but to "save a baby from any contact with parents lacking in the most fundamental feeling—love of offspring—and to insure protection to its helplessness."

If Sliding Prices Endanger
Recovery Program
President Expected To Act With Firm Hand.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(AP)—Two days of sharply falling stock and commodity prices today brought the Roosevelt administration into action in an attempt to curb large scale speculation on the grain markets.

In a day that saw wheat drop 17 cents a bushel and stocks from $2 to $23, the administration warned that if "necessary" to halt wide fluctuations in grain prices it was prepared to invoke the licensing power of the farm act upon grain traders to achieve more stable prices.

There was no immediate word from the administration about the stock market, but Senator Thomas, democratic, Oklahoma, suggested that a code might be prescribed by the federal government for the control of such exchanges.

The familiar with the views of President Roosevelt believed that if the market fluctuations endangered the recovery program, he would not hesitate to act firmly and boldly.

Restrictions imposed.

In the first effort to deal with the grain exchanges, Secretary Wallace, at the direction of President Roosevelt, announced that the department of agriculture was informed daily of the names of operators who have traded heavily in the grain market.

Wallace explained that this action was a "preliminary" in developing a program to halt if possible violent shifts in grain prices, that the information was being collected for the purpose of making recommendations for new legislation or invocation of powers under the farm act authorizing the secretary to license dealers and handlers of grain commodities.

For the Chicago market, the largest in the nation, the requirement makes it necessary to report to the grain futures administration long or short account of 500,000 bushels or more in an, future at the close of each day's trading.

Suspended By Hyde.

This requirement was suspended last October by former Secretary Hyde at the suggestion of President Hoover. Wallace said Chicago Board of Trade executives had co-operated in restoring the requirement. He added that he had suggested the Board of Trade place a limit on daily fluctuations for various grains. Several days ago he proposed that a limit on the daily fluctuation of barley of five cents a bushel be established.

Wallace said that it was up to the Board of Trade to decide whether a limit on other grains should be fixed.

Wallace added that "it is rather obvious that there have been some swirling currents in the market," saying that he would be glad to see Chicago had come to his attention regarding speculation in grain.

Boykin Launches
War on Atlanta
Lottery Racket

Whole-hearted public support of a crusade to stamp out in Atlanta the activities of a nation-wide lottery racket which is mulcting poor and ignorant workers out of as much as $25,000 a week was sought Thursday by Solicitor-General John A. Boykin as he planned to intensify efforts to search out the lottery bankers and to foil their game.

In a letter to The Constitution Mr. Boykin asked, as his first move toward blocking the "number" game operators from their established methods of practicing the racket, that this paper publish the bond sale figures daily in round numbers instead of giving the exact figures. Co-operation of The Constitution was pledged in his crusade, said, beginning today, the daily bond, stock and curb sales are given in approximate figures, sufficiently close for legitimate purposes.

Violence of law enforcement officers is forcing the lottery men to keep on the jump to avoid arrest, and, in spite of their frequent shifts, the officers are making numbers "hits" by guessing the "number" of the violator, it was said. Officers are engaged in patrolling negro sections and other places where the lottery artists work, and are seeking persons carrying the peculiar style of book used by the racket.

Expressing appreciation of the action of the Fulton county commission in providing transportation for city officers working on lottery cases, Mr. Boykin said that "I feel certain that the officers are establishing in town a splendid conclusion. The officers must have public support in their efforts, and if citizens know where the 'pick-up' men, writers, and headquarters of the lotteries are located, their co-operation in the form of information will be valuable assistance."

Persistent Effort Required.

"The job of crushing a racket of this kind requires continuous and persistent effort," Mr. Boykin said. "I am now trying to arrange for a crew of competent men to be specially assigned to the work to aid the officers already working on the cases."

Mr. Boykin said that persons operating the lotteries are largely ex-bootleggers who are finding more profits in the game where "pay-offs" are few and far between and where the "sucker" has only once chance in 1,000 of making a "hit."

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(AP)—President Roosevelt tonight approved in entirety a general voluntary governing code of minimum wages and shorter working hours for American industry.

Mr. Roosevelt promulgated the new order after Hugh S. Johnson, industrial recovery administrator, had read it over to him alone in the White House.

Leaving the White House after his almost two-hour talk with Mr. Roosevelt, Johnson carried the general order under his arm.

"I put his okay on it," said Johnson as he got into his waiting automobile to make public the order. Asked if it goes into immediate effect, Johnson replied: "Yes, and no, I will have to explain that. It isn't built that way."

A few minutes later, Johnson outlined the provisions of the plan as the industrial administration offices.

Child Employment Ban.

It called for agreement by employers not to employ after August 31 of this year any person under 18 except for three hours during day time, not interfering with school, child labor in manufacturing or mechanical industries would be flatly prevented.

They must agree not to employ any accounting, clerical, banking, office, service or sales employees for more than 40 hours in any one week and not to reduce the hours of store or service operation to below 52 hours in any one week, unless they were less than 52 before July 1 of this year. In this case they would agree not to reduce the hours at all.

Factory and mechanical workers would be limited to 35 hours until the end of this year, with the right to a maximum 40-hour-week for four or five weeks during the period, no workers exceeding eight hours in any one day. Exempt from both preceding provisions are establishments in towns of less than 2,500 population, not part

BREAD PRICE INCREASE SAID GENERALLY FAIR

U. S. Reports Indicate Bakers Have Kept Within Justified Limits.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(AP)—Farm administrators reported today that "most bakers appear to be maintaining fair price schedules," after an intensive investigation of bread prices in 32 cities which showed increases averaging slightly less than one cent per pound loaf on July 13 compared with June 15.

Bakers in the cities where investigations were conducted were reported by administrators to have "in most cases kept with what Secretary Wallace has indicated would be a justifiable price advance."

After ordering the processing tax of 30 cents a bushel on wheat in effect on July 9, he said it did not justify an increase of more than one-half cent a loaf and that the rise in prices of wheat and other ingredients of bread did not justify with the tax an increase of from more than 1 1/8 cents to 1 1/4 cents a loaf.

Secretary Wallace made the following statement concerning increase in bread prices:

"It has been my duty to disseminate information on bread prices and wheat prices and particularly to estimate the effect of the 30-cent processing wheat tax on the price the consumer pays for bread. This part of my duty is very simply carried out. A tax of 30 cents a bushel on wheat means an average increase in bread costs of slightly less than one-half cent per pound loaf."

"In fairness to the baker, however, it should be stated that the rapid rise in wheat prices during the last two months accounts for an increase of another half cent in the cost of bread. Moreover, there has been an increase in the cost of sugar, dried milk and other ingredients which go into bread, sufficient to account for as much as one-fifth of a cent per pound loaf. It would seem fair, therefore, to say that the pound loaf which sold for 6 1/2 cents in May, might properly sell now for about 8 cents, so far as the ingredients are concerned."

"We have received many complaints during the past week on bread price increases of 3 cents or more per pound. These are being investigated. The American Bakers' Association has been prompt to look into specific complaints, and has already submitted its preliminary reports to me. The complaints of 3-cent increases, according to the American Bakers' Association, upon examination cannot be substantiated. One or two increases of 2 cents a pound have been substantiated, but most of the increases seem to be less than that."

TWO SLIGHTLY INJURED IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH

Miss Beverly Bailey, of Peachtree road, prominent young society girl, and English Robinson, of Ponce de Leon avenue, were slightly injured late Thursday night in an automobile accident on Piedmont road.

Both were taken to St. Joseph's Infirmary for treatment. They received slight cuts and bruises and were not admitted to the hospital. The names of the occupants of the other car were not learned. County police were investigating early Friday morning. Robinson is the son of J. D. Robinson, vice-president of the First National bank.

STATE BANK OFFICIAL AND BONDSMEN SUE

Superintendent Gormley Denies Responsibility for Defunct Local Concern.

Two damage suits totaling $22,840 were filed in superior court Thursday against R. E. Gormley, state superintendent of banks, and his bondsmen. The suits allege failure to perform a legal duty.

Mrs. Frances H. Thompson, of a Baltimore place address, seeks to recover $16,546, and Robert Irving seeks to recover $6,294. The two actions charge negligence against the superintendent of banks in that he allegedly failed to inspect the now defunct Bankers Savings & Loan Company or to ascertain its financial condition. The plaintiffs allege that the institution became insolvent within two weeks after it opened for business and remained so until closed 12 months later.

Advised of the action last night Mr. Gormley said the banking department had never supervised banks unless they were chartered by the secretary of state and the Bankers Savings and Loan Company was chartered by the superior court.

He said he had been advised by the assistant attorney-general in charge of the banking department the concern was not a banking institution and not subject to the superintendent of banks.

Later a mandamus action was brought and the supreme court held he should clear up the bank's affairs. This action was taken after the institution closed.

Concordat Is Signed By Germany, Vatican

VATICAN CITY, July 20.—(AP)—A concordat between Germany and the Vatican was signed today by Vice Chancellor Franz von Papen, of Germany, and Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state.

Those present at the signing of the pact were Baron von Boers, chief of the cabinet; Under Secretary of Interior, Buttman; Minister to Holy See, von Klotz; Monsignor Kaas, former center party leader; Monsignor Ottaviani, under secretary of state, and Monsignor Pizzardi, under secretary of the congregation for extraordinary ecclesiastical affairs.

It was revealed that Monsignor Kaas had intensively assisted in the negotiations resulting in the concordat. He has been living in Rome in strict retirement several months and was also present at the recent finalizing of the concordat.

DEALERS ARE WARNED TO SHARE PROFITS

NEW YORK, July 20.—Warning retailers that profiteer price fixing which pockets increases not passed on to labor may result in a public buying strike, Perry S. Straus, president of R. H. Macy & Co., Inc., today urged members of the National Retail Dry Goods Association assembled at the Hotel Pennsylvania to lose no further time in presenting a practical recovery code.

Mr. Straus said, in part:

"Prices must rise, but should not rise so fast that consumer incomes are not able to pay the increases. We have heard before of consumer strikes. The retail distributor should face his responsibility of representing the consumer in the wholesale markets. The act specifically prohibits monopoly and monopolistic practices."

"The retailer should protest against provisions in manufacturing codes that tend to destroy rational competition and foster monopoly. Some such provisions have already been introduced into preliminary codes under guises that appear in the public interest. We, as distributors, should not hesitate to expose to the administration such provisions."

"We should be wise enough to know that price fixing, under whatever guise, will ultimately foster monopoly and that provisions that play into the hands of an influential group in any industry inevitably tend to price fixing."

Peiping Sends 65,000 To Rout Gen. Feng

PEIPING, China, July 20.—(AP)—Peiping authorities, acting on orders from the Nanking government, started 65,000 troops to Kalgan today to crush Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang.

Feng's refusal to make peace with the Japanese upon any but his own terms has caused a crisis in north

China and embarrassed the central government, which is anxious that the Japanese find no excuse to extend their sphere of operations.

One-time powerful Christian warlord, Feng is reported to have maintained a large following throughout China. He has been hastily constructing formidable defenses 10 miles out of Kalgan and during the past 24 hours it has been discovered that his forces are far stronger than heretofore indicated.

FRANCO-GERMAN PACT URGED BY HENDERSON

MUNICH, July 20.—(AP)—Arthur Henderson, president of the disarmament conference, in conversations with Chancellor Hitler here tonight, urged him to meet Premier Daladier of France, in an effort to achieve Franco-German understanding as a means of bringing success to the movement for reduction of armaments.

It was stated semi-officially that presentation of the German viewpoint in tonight's discussions, in which Foreign Minister Von Neurath participated, opened "the possibility of continuing the exchange of opinions towards the creation of a pact."

Intimates of Chancellor Hitler said that the proposed Hitler-Daladier encounter would require further diplomatic preparation.

After the talk with Mr. Henderson, Hitler left immediately for Berne.

PILEATED WOODPECKERS.

Many years ago, when I first began to roam the woods in search of an understanding of wild life, I made the acquaintances of the pileated woodpeckers. The understanding that I sought is even now, in the delightful phrase of William Beebe, just beginning to cross the line from "The Inimitable Land of Minus." I have learned many facts since those early days, but never, I hope, will I come to a point where I actually think I know something. Such an attitude is the impassable barrier to further progress, and if I ever approach such a condition, I shall make a straight trail to the pileated woodpeckers.

With the judicious use of books and colored illustrations, you can learn that the pileated woodpecker is next to the largest woodpecker (the ivory-bill) in North America. You will find that the seventeen inches of length is topped by a scarlet crest, with an additional scarlet area extending from the base of the bill to this crest in the male. You will also learn that the side of the head and neck are striped in black and white, and that the rest of the body is mostly black. There are also to be found in this way descriptions of the nest, eggs, calls and habits of the bird, but the book acquaintance is one that leaves you still unstruck.

It takes the sight of these majestic birds to move you into a quiver of excitement. The river-hammer pounding of their long sharp bills into a dead tree sets my scalp a-quiver. I have stalked them for hours, hoping to get them into positions for sketches, but without success. They are very wary and have a remarkable eyesight; my idea of perfection in woodcraft is to be able to stalk these birds well enough to get some photographs. They have been observed many times near Atlanta; my first sight of them was within the city limits of Decatur, where they nested in a gigantic tulip-poplar. The ground at the base of this tree was covered with chips drilled from the upper branches, and by arduous climbing later in the year, I found that some of the holes that they made were over two inches deep, which increased by already deep respect for the powerful bills of that pair of Phloeotomus pilatus. If you don't know the species, it is high time that you made it one of your birds, and I hope that you will have the opportunity soon.

Mr. Carter met last night with Troop 6, Grant Park Boy Scouts, and will meet Troop 1, East Lake, tonight. Both talks are on bird-life. Mr. Carter tells us that this phase of his work with The Atlanta Constitution is probably the most worthwhile part of it. About August 6 he will speak to the boys at the Athens Y. M. C. A. camp at Tallulah Falls, giving an illustrated talk on some of the wild life of the Eastern United States.

Tomorrow: "Cross-Sections."

CHICAGO, July 20.—(AP)—No more wars and an emphasis on internationalism was the essence of what the American college generation told the older generation gathered at the international congress of women, history's first economic conference of women.
Viola Lima, editor of Modern Youth, "however adults may feel about militarism, the youth of the country want no more wars."
Miss Clea Olmstead, of the University of Chicago, said: "We know too much about our parents for their own good."
Miss Jane Addams, founder of Hull House and strong advocate for world peace, presided.

GENERAL KING DENIES KNOWLEDGE OF CHANGE

Fourth Corps Area Head Not Notified of Reported Transfer to Canal Zone.

Major General Edward I. King, United States army, commanding general of the fourth corps area, Thursday at Fort McPherson denied any knowledge of an impending transfer which would take him to the Panama Canal department. News of the change reached Atlanta by a press dispatch released in Washington reporting the probable shifting of the army's high command. General King stated that he had not been notified of any change and that he felt no desire to leave his present station. No official orders have been issued.

The transfer of Major General King was one of three major changes expected to take place in early fall in army circles. In addition to the command of the Panama Canal department vacancies are scheduled in the posts of commander of the Hawaiian department and the Philippine department. Major General Preston Brown, now in command of the Panama Canal zone, will return to the states, it is believed, for his present tour terminates in November. Major General Bryant H. Wells' tour of duty in Hawaii ends in the fall and he must be replaced by another major general. Retirement of Major General Ewing E. Booth, commander of the Philippine department takes place in February when he reaches his 64th year and his replacement will be necessary. With these important positions falling vacant, official Washington is agog over the new assignments among the top-notchers of the army.

General King is known throughout the service for his marked ability and rare qualities of leadership. With a genial personality, brilliant mind and an able forceful manner he rates as one of the foremost men of the army, and has been exceedingly popular in this area since his location here.

"DUAL" CITIZENSHIP URGED FOR YOUTH

CHICAGO, July 20.—(AP)—The rising generation today was exhorted to assume the obligations of a dual citizenship, one religious and the other political. In a plea to young Lutherans attending the International Lutheran League convention to observe their civic responsibilities, Congressman John W. Egan, of Evansville, Ind., declared the foremost obligation, and upon which hinged the entire relationship between a citizen and his country, was that of "loyalty to fundamental moral principles upon which all right conduct is based."

Nazis Round Up Jews In Nuremberg Drive

BERLIN, July 20.—(AP)—The ancient city of Nuremberg was the scene today of an extraordinary roundup of Jews, no news of which was allowed to reach the German public. About 9 o'clock, between 200 and 300 Jews, mostly businessmen and shopkeepers, were arrested by the nazis and paraded through the main street of the city. The procession was headed and flanked by storm troopers, and thus escorted, the Jews were taken eventually to the Baeronschans barracks, where presumably they were still in custody tonight.

According to local nazi circles, the action was intended to be "a drive against Jewish society." It was not ascertained whether the drive was sanctioned by high authority or whether it was done on the initiative of Nuremberg storm troopers.

Reports were circulating at Nuremberg that similar action would be taken in other towns throughout the reich, but tonight no news of this development was available in any quarters.

Ten More Careful Auto Drivers To Get Tickets to Loew's Grand

Ten more careful and courteous drivers of motor vehicles will receive guest tickets to Loew's Grand theater in this morning's mail as a result of a check of drivers Thursday when a staff member of The Constitution stood at a downtown corner and observed traffic operation. The 10 drivers will be enrolled in the "Careful Drivers' Honor Roll."

The Constitution staff member checking the operation of motor cars secured license numbers of cars in which drivers showed unusual care and courtesy. Turned over to Loew's Grand theater, the list of numbers was checked through the state motor vehicle files and the identity of drivers learned.

With the identity of the drivers in his possession, E. J. Melnick, manager of the theater, sent them cards of congratulation and invitations to attend the theater with a companion as guests of the theater and The Constitution.

Again today a representative of The Constitution will stand on a downtown corner and closely observe traf-

POLICE LAUNCH DRIVE ON TRAFFIC VIOLATORS

More Than 50 Cases Made
After Sturdiant Orders
Stricter Enforcement.

A determination by Chief T. O. Sturdiant to put a stop to traffic accidents and automobile fatalities by strictly enforcing traffic regulations Thursday sent motorcycle and radio car officers and patrolmen hurrying over Atlanta making cases against all violators of traffic rules.

More than 50 cases involving speeding, falling to observe stop signs, overparking and violation of other traffic rules were made by the diligent policemen in the first few hours after the chief issued a statement saying he would fire any officer caught neglecting his duty as to traffic rules. "If a motorcycle officer cannot catch traffic rule violators, I'll take his machine and put him on foot," the chief said.

"This is not merely a temporary 'war' on the traffic violators, but is an effort which will be kept up from now on. We mean to reduce the many accidents and deaths and the way to do it is to enforce the regulations. In the residential sections the flagrant disregard of the rules has brought many fatalities, and in these sections particularly our men will be more watchful," he asserted.

FROZEN DESSERTS

Certain Popularity Awaits the Successful Maker of Frozen Desserts and Puddings.

Fruit Flavors Are Sure-Fire and Provide a Wide Variety at This Season.

Interesting variety in frozen foods was suggested last week in the form of frozen puddings. This week we will get started on frozen desserts, for this is the season of the year when such foods are most popular. The woman who owns a mechanical refrigerator, of whatever kind, may make good use of it in July and August. And the woman who has to depend on the old-fashioned ice cream freezer can get a plentiful and inexpensive supply of ice for freezing purposes.

One of the very newest of frozen desserts is the so-called ice cream cake. It is made like a jelly roll, with an ice cream center. Make a jelly roll, either sponge or chocolate, cut off the crisp edges after it is baked, cool it slightly, then spread with partly frozen ice cream. Roll it up like a jelly roll, wrap in thin pieces of waxed paper, and place in the tray of mechanical refrigerator, or in an ice cream freezer to freeze hard. When ready to serve it, remove and slice in half-inch slices. Serve with a fork.

HOW SHE LOST 14 POUNDS OF FAT FOR 85 CENTS
"I used one jar of Kruschen and reduced 14 lbs. and just feel fine. Was bothered before with gas pains but after taking Kruschen I am now bothered no more." Mrs. Frank Reed, Deer River, Minn.
Don't stay fat and unattractive—not when it's so easy and safe to get rid of double chins, ugly hip-fat and unbecoming plumpness on upper arms—at the same time build up strength and increase vitality—feel younger and keep free from headaches, indigestion, acidity, fatigue and shortness of breath.
Just take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen three times a day every morning in a glass of hot water. If not joyfully satisfied with results of one small jar (lasts 4 weeks) money back from any drug store the world over. But make sure you get Kruschen—the SAFE way to reduce.—(adv.)

CHICHESTERS PILLS
Suffered 30 Years With PILES
Read what this Buffalo man writes: "It seems like a miracle. I have been troubled with bleeding and protruding piles for 30 years—was about to go to hospital when a friend told me about Hem-Roid. After the first week's treatment I have no signs of piles and feel like a different person." (Name on request.)
Hem-Roid is the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonard and is such a wonderful one that thousands who once suffered agonizing and distressing piles are now free from torturing piles. Garden History of Georgia Subscriptions Will Be Received by Mrs. C. C. Case

The "Garden History of Georgia," a part of the bicentennial celebration, is attracting attention throughout the state. There are several hundred subscriptions to the first edition yet to be sold, and until the entire amount of money is in hand, to meet all expenses incident to the publishing of the first edition, just so long will be the delay.

Mrs. Robert L. Cooney, chairman of the book committee, feels that the success of the book depends upon these first subscribers. The publishers are serving an altruistic purpose, for nothing will be realized above actual expenses. It is the purpose to have for those interested, a fine book of Georgia gardens, as a contribution toward the celebration of Georgia's bicentennial year. After this subscription is exhausted, the price of the book will be $7.50.

Illustrated Edition. Many gardens of the early coastal development will be featured, as well as the modern gardens, school and institutional gardens. The book will be described, and beautifully illustrated, gardens from Albany, Brunswick, Savannah, Madison, Augusta, Athens, Columbus, Atlanta and other places. It is the sincere hope of the publishers that Georgia people entirely subscribe the first edition, as the book will, no doubt, have added value as time passes, and should naturally mean more to Georgians than to those of other states. Other states will be circulated in the near future, if the full number is not subscribed at home.

The subscription price for the book at present is $5, and a check for that amount, if sent to Mrs. C. C. Case, the treasurer, at 2024 Habersham road, Atlanta, will place the purchaser's name on the list to receive the first edition. The number of 1,500 copies have to be sold and paid for before the book can be published. Those who have examined the material agree that it is in every way desirable at twice the price asked for it. They concede its value from an artistic as well as an informational standpoint.

Miss Hattie C. Rainwater, supervisor of nature study in Atlanta schools, is editor. Her account of the activities in Georgia schools is illuminating and interesting. P. Thornton May and Florence May have prepared the section comprising old gardens. After much research work, the accuracy of book description, and detailed drawings of some of them, will delight the most discriminating. Among special contributors are Dr. Woodford Baker, of Emory University; Dr. T. H. McElhenny, of Athens; Rose Strickland Nichols and Judge Henry Hammond, of Augusta.

Modern Gardens. The descriptions of modern gardens, the plans and photographs have been contributed by the various owners, or by those in close contact with the gardens themselves. The illustrations are the work of some of the best artists in the hands of the committee, and testify to the splendid work of the Dixie Engraving Company, of Savannah. The Brown Publishing Company, of Atlanta, has likewise furnished sample sheets of pages that are to appear in the book. Both of these companies, by doing the work at actual cost to them, are contributing toward the bicentennial celebration. In other words, the book is a record of the efforts of its people, and it furnishes a record of horticultural interest for all time to come.

It will contain about 480 pages, the size will be 9 inches by 12 inches, the face of the page 1x9. Please write for further information to Mrs. L. L. Cooney, 1810 Ponce de Leon avenue, or better still, send in an order accompanied by a check for as many copies as desired for the first edition to Mrs. C. C. Case, 2024 Habersham road, Atlanta.

Friendly Counsel BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name will be confidential. Write Mrs. Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Miss Chatfield: We have been engaged for several years and time and time again we have been disappointed about getting married because jobs didn't turn out as we expected them to. This boy has not had a happy home life, due to the presence of a step-father who doesn't always think about him at home. He and his mother and her husband argue and fuss all the time and he says he is tormented by it. Now this is the proposition. He is going away to take a course at a teacher's college this fall and he wants me to marry him before he goes. I am 21 and he is 23. He thinks he cannot get his mind on his work if he is always thinking about him at home unhappy and lonely. I don't want to do anything that would handicap him. What do you think of our plan?

JUST BETWEEN US.

Answer: By all the laws of love and logic marriage will be a definite handicap to a young man entering college. If you would be a real help to him you should convince him that you will be neither unhappy nor lonesome while he is away, but rather buoyed up by the thought that he is preparing himself for a profession that will enable you to be married sooner than if he had stayed at home and held down unremunerative jobs here and there.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Dear Miss Chatfield: I will first give my opinion of a married man who has a family of children, yet spends his time dressing up, using balms and scented powder, trimming his eyebrows, manicuring his nails, all in the hope of attracting the attention of young women he meets. I think it is about as disgusting a sight as one could imagine. It is enough to make a decent person nauseated. Of course, none of these women care anything for the man that she knows she can't marry. She only cares for what she gets out of him. What do you think?

DISGUSTED WIFE.

Answer: Naturally, the wife is disgusted. The general public is amused, and the girls who fall for the scented sheik are both entertained and pleased at being "in the money."

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Dear Miss Chatfield: I have grown to be fond of a quiet, yet very lively girl. She blooms under friendly conversation, but when I make love to her she appears bored. I talked this over with a boy who had formerly given her a rush, and he said he had the same experience. It's hard to keep from making love when you are thinking of nothing else. It all comes to a thing with me, and I don't know if I quit. Which will be the best thing to do?

UNDECEDED.

Answer: There are times when patience is the most important virtue a person may possess. Patiently this is one of those times. After all what is love but the flower of friendship? Every flower, vegetable of spiritual, loses something of its fragrance and its charm when it is "forced." So why force love-making upon the young lady who offers you honest friendship and gives every evidence of interest in your friendship for her? Greediness is always repulsive, whether for food or for money; and a refining shy girl can be easily repulsed by an over-zealous lover.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Dear Miss Chatfield: Another deserted wife, deserted after 23 years of married life. My husband mortgaged everything we had, borrowed all the money he could, and ran away with the wife of another man. He is living in another town, and I am left at home to work and pay off his debts. I have the impulse to write to him and ask him to send me some money, as my earnings won't support me and permit me to pay off the obligations he incurred. Do you think I have the right to do this?

L. H.

Answer: You not only have the right to ask for the money, but you have the right to ask that if it is not forthcoming you will send an officer with a warrant to collect the money he could and ran away with the wife of another man.

Miss Margaret Phillips Celebrates Birthday.

One of the most delightful children's parties of the summer season was given Tuesday afternoon in honor of little Miss Margaret Phillips by Mrs. W. A. Vernoy and Miss Elizabeth Vernoy. The party celebrated the tenth birthday anniversary of the guest of honor, who wore a dainty ankle-length dress of pink organza, ruffled from hipline to hem and girled with a wide blue satin sash. Her corsage was of summer flowers.

At the beautifully arranged table the predominating colors, blue, yellow and pink were accented by brightly colored balloons, banded in about the chandelier, from which broad ruffled bands of the three colors extended to the table to make graceful and colorful bows.

The charmingly original centerpiece on the table was a miniature beach. Sand bordered the edges of the mirror lake, on which a beamed sailboat and graceful swans were attractively placed. Bathing dolls, cabanas and beach chairs made the sandy strip colorful and realistic. The beach idea was further heightened in the sky by umbrellas standing erect on the ice cream, which was guarded carefully for each little guest by a bathing suit doll, standing beside a carefully placed bucket and holding on her outstretched arm a life preserver as a place card.

The guests invited were Betty Reinstein, Margaret Cole, Nancy Dunn, Jean Dunn, Elsie Preston, Sarah Allen, Katherine Allen, Jacqueline Vernoy, Jeanne Alexander, Carleen Owen, Barbara Burch, Mrs. W. R. Hill, Janet Cherry, Irene Perkins, Edith Robinson and the guest of honor, Margaret Phillips.

RECOVERY ACT SEEN AS ADVERTISING AID. Newspaper advertising will make an indispensable contribution to business under the conditions brought about by the passage of the national recovery act, according to Howard E. Blood, president of the Norge Corporation, whose company has been conspicuously successful in the electric refrigeration industry during the depression period.

"Without newspaper advertising," said Mr. Blood, "it would have been impossible for American business to have attained the magnificent achievements it has, for it would have been taken 200 years to educate the masses into the standard of living that we now enjoy."

"It does not appear to be the administration's intent to curb any company's production, but it will insist that a company shall not dump its surplus production at prices below cost. In other words, a manufacturer must sell whatever he makes by sound sales practice. This will tend to increase advertising volume, because many companies, who previously have resorted mainly to price and shoddy merchandise, will have to build real values into their goods and will have to make the public aware of this."

Culbertson on Contract

Freak Distribution and Freak Results.

BY ELY CULBERTSON, World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

There is no law that can be laid down to govern freak distributions of the Bridge table. Though some general principles may be observed in the bidding when players find themselves confronted with hands in which the honor strength on one side is counteracted by tremendous distribution values on the other, to attempt to point out exactly what should or should not be done when the distribution is of the goulash type is probably useless, as really the result is largely determined by the types of person holding the hand and the psychological reaction of his opponents.

In a recent Duplicate game in East Orange, N. J., the following hand was dealt:

North and South vulnerable.

North Dealer.

♠ A Q 7 5 3 2
♥ A K Q 9 8 3

♥ 7 6 5 4 2
♦ A 7 6 4

♠ A Q J 10 9 8
♥ J 10
♦ K Q J 10 9 8
♣ J 10

The hand provided a great variety of results. There were six tables competing. At table No. 1 the final contract was six hearts by North, which was made. At table No. 2, North undertook a contract of seven hearts, which was defeated 1 trick. At table No. 3 North and South played the hand in seven diamonds doubled, and made their contract. At table No. 4, East and West undertook a contract of seven spades doubled, and went down one. At table No. 5 East and West fulfilled a contract of six spades, while at table No. 6 North and South playing a seven-trump contract, which they had undertaken in preference to permitting opponents to play a contract of seven spades, went down 10 tricks doubled for a net loss of 6,500 joints.

The contract of seven no-trump was reached in the following extraordinary explanatory paragraphs.

(Figures after bids refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

North East South West
2 North (1) Pass (2) 3 Pass
4 North (1) Pass (2) 4 Pass
6 North (1) Pass (2) 5 Pass
7 North (1) Pass (2) 6 Pass
7NT (5) Dbl. (6) Pass Pass

1—North's Force without the required number of honor-tricks is explained by the two-suit strength with the void in clubs and the singleton Ace of spades.

2—East elects to await developments, feeling sure of an opportunity to make a sacrifice bid at a later stage.

3—A bad bid, partly responsible for North's later no-trump. South should have assisted the hearts.

4—Showing preference.

5—A suicidal bid. South's forced three-club bid does not guarantee the Ace. North is too anxious to play this "power house."

6—Depending on the King of hearts as a forlorn chance for an entry. In the play, East, never dreaming that the Ace of clubs was in the West hand, led the King of spades. North took the trick with the Ace and felt the hearts with a lead of the Ace, no finesse being possible. He realized that he was caught when West discarded a high club. His only chance seemed to be that there were no spades in the West hand, a strong possibility in view of the bidding. He could have taken 6 tricks in diamonds immediately and have been set only five, but if West held no spades, there was just a possibility that he would be set only one. He therefore led a low card to the diamond Knave in Dummy and returned the King of clubs, with the diamond Ten still a means of getting back into the closed hand after running the good clubs if West was unable to return a spade and elected to return a club.

If West elected to return a diamond, there was still a bare possibility of forcing him to take the fifth diamond and return a club. But West took the King with the Ace of clubs and returned the last spade, and East took eight spades and the King of hearts, setting the contract 10 tricks.

The arguments that ensued when this hand was analyzed were many and varied. Aside from the general amazement at the disastrous result of the seven-no-trump bid, they concerned a lead from the heart doubleton in the East hand against a seven-diamond contract.

TOMORROW'S HAND. If South is playing a contract of six clubs, how should he plan the play in order to make his contract against an Opening lead of a spade? North Dealer.

Neither side vulnerable.

Plain Ice Cream Is Good for Children

BY FLORENCE LA GANKE.

It was warm at one time and chilled at another. She made ice cream at home frequently, using both the hand-turned freezer and the iceless box.

Her simplest recipe called for two cups of hot milk thickened with two tablespoons cornstarch stirred with one-half cup sugar. This mixture cooks for 15 minutes, then it is poured over two egg yolks beaten with one-half cup sugar. This mixture is cooled and then the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs, a few grains of salt and one quart of cream are added. This mixture is flavored with two teaspoons vanilla. Had Nancy been planning to use the iceless box, she would have whipped the cream stiff. In using the hand-turned freezer she combined eight parts ice with one of cream. The mixture out at the end of 10 minutes and again at end of one-half hour and scraped down the sides and beat the mixture vigorously.

Nancy had learned that commercial cream purchased from a reputable concern and handled by a clean druggist or merchant was safe. But she was exceedingly chary of the so-called "home-made cream" which came from sources that might easily be questioned. She wanted to know whether the retailer had clean containers, clean employees. She wanted to know whether the cream left from day to day was adequately frozen or whether

NEW ROAD BOARD IN FIRST MEETING

Mangham and McRae Assume Office as Governor Issues Proclamation.

Two new appointees to the state highway board took office Thursday and Governor Talmadge, by proclamation, declared "there is now a full, legally constituted highway board of this state as provided by law."

J. J. Mangham, of Bremen, and Max L. McRae, of McRae, were named to the board Wednesday night by Governor Talmadge who declared that Mangham was to succeed to the chairmanship formerly held by J. W. Barnett, of Athens, and McRae to the membership on the board of W. C. Vereen, of Moultrie. The governor said Barnett and Vereen had abandoned their offices.

The two new members, with Jud P. Wilhoit, of Warrenton, who has been running the department during the military rule invoked June 19, held a meeting today but after the meeting Chairman Mangham said "only routine business was attended to." He declined to say what the business was.

"Was anybody hired?" he was asked.

"No."

"Was anybody fired?"

"No, but there may be some of that later on."

The governor's proclamation yesterday was an amendment to the military law proclamation, and said merely that the highway board "is not acting under the military authority of the state, but only under protection of the military authority."

Chairman Mangham said the board's meeting was "perfectly harmonious" and that all votes were unanimous.

Rumors that another reorganization of the highway department was contemplated were not discussed by Mangham.

Military Guard Bars Road Board Members

A buck private on guard at the state highway offices Thursday for a time prevented the functioning of Governor Talmadge's new highway board.

J. J. Mangham and Judge Mac McRae arrived early for their new duties only to be stopped at the door of the executive offices by the young soldier.

"You can't go in there," the soldier said.

"But I'm J. J. Mangham and this is Judge MacRae, the new appointees of the governor," Mangham replied.

"Well, I don't care who you are, you're not going in," said the private.

A conference was held. The governor was called by telephone and his message relayed to the military. But still he stood firm.

"March them over here," the governor then told the private in a direct message.

The private did, step launty and side-arms swinging. The governor explained matters, congratulated the private for attention to orders, and the new officials took up their duties, their first engagement won.

AMERICANS TAKE 5,640-POINT LEAD IN BRIDGE PLAY

LONDON, July 20.—(AP)—The American team spurted to a lead of 5,640 points over the British team in today's round of a 300-board duplicate tournament for an international contract bridge trophy offered by Charles M. Schwab.

The score at the end of the night session, with 200 boards completed, was: United States, 66,020; England, 60,380.

The British team brought in a reserve to no avail, Graham Matheson replacing Sir Guy Denville, a participant in the afternoon session and substituting for P. V. Tabbush in the evening round.

The Americans, led by Ely Culbertson, profited by bold and precise bidding; while the English fluctuated between underbidding and overbidding.

Meanwhile the press of spectators became so great around the two enclosed rooms in which the play is proceeding that a new device to allow them to watch the matches was given its first trial. This is the first of a series of six similar periscopes, composed of reflectors, which allow the watchers outside the rooms to witness an image of the actual play.

Outstanding Hand.

The outstanding hand of the evening session from the American viewpoint was a grand slam bid made by Culbertson, playing with Theodore A. Lightner, while the English in the other room only reached a small slam contract, netting the Americans 1,500 points.

The hand follows:

NORTH: S—A K 9 3 H—A J 10 4 2 D—A K 9 6 4 3 C—10 5

EAST: S—7 6 5 4 3 H—K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 D—K J 10 5 2 C—8 7 6 5 4 3 2

WEST: S—A K 9 3 H—A J 10 4 2 D—A K 9 6 4 3 C—10 5

SOUTH: S—7 6 5 4 3 H—K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 D—K J 10 5 2 C—8 7 6 5 4 3 2

East, West Vulnerable.

Col. H. M. Beasley, of the British team, sat at north, with Matheson, south, Lightner, east, and Culbertson, west. East and west were vulnerable.

The bidding was as follows: North, pass, east one spade, south, pass, west, three clubs, north, pass, east, three spades, south, pass, west, four no-trump, north, pass, east five no-trump, south, pass, west, seven spades, all pass.

The contract was made, giving the Americans 2,960 points.

In the other room Mrs. Culbertson was north, Denville east, Michael T. Gottlieb, south, and George Morris, west. The bidding was: North, pass, east one spade, south, pass, west, three clubs, north, pass, east, three spades, south, pass, west, six spades, all pass.

Thirteen tricks were taken but only 1,460 points were earned.

Culbertson, explaining the bidding later, said:

"Lightner's rebid of spades showed the length of that suit, my four no-trump response was a forcing bid telling my partner I had at least two aces and a king of the bid suit, his five no-trump said he had the other two aces. You can not fail to reach a grand slam contract on a four aces and five no-trump convention. It was a spectacular hand well bid."

Means Begins Term.

LEWISBURG, Pa., July 20.—(AP)—Gaston M. Means, former United States department of justice investigator, today began his 20-day quarantine period at the Northeastern penitentiary where he is to serve a 15-year sentence for fraud in connection with the Lindbergh baby kidnapping.

HITLER'S ANCESTRY FUEL FOR BATTLE OF VIENNA PAPERS

VIENNA, July 20.—(AP)—An angry argument is being waged by Vienna newspapers over the question whether Chancellor Hitler's grandmother was Jewish or Aryan.

For the past week the boulevard sheets of the fascist Heimwehr (a government supporter) have been splashing their front pages with the German chancellor's family tree. Photographs of a tombstone, and of old family album tins and copies of Jewish archives have been published as evidence that Hitler's family came from a Ghetto in Poland, Bohemia.

The more conservative dailies, however, pointed out gaps in the alleged lineage, and today even the socialist Allgemeine Zeitung—which for months has been conducting a bitter campaign against Nazi Germany—made public the result of its own investigations to the effect that "there is no doubt that Hitler is an Aryan."

The Allgemeine concluded a genealogical survey by saying, "We cannot be suspected of wanting to take sides with the Nazi leader. But it is our opinion that fighting with false contentions harms more than it helps."

The Heimwehr's Oesterreichisches Abendblatt retorted with a genealogical list allegedly signed by the director of the city museum at Pola to the

ROGERS

QUALITY FOOD SHOPS

CHOSEN FOR TENDERNESS

There is just one right age for veal—8 to 12 weeks. And at this season of the year the best veal comes from the Minnesota country. So we went to that section and bought 8 to 12-week-old calves, dairy-bred, mother-fed—and chosen for tenderness.

Such care is typical of Rogers Meat Markets. We buy so much meat that we can organize our buying expertly. We buy so much it comes to us in fast trains, solid carloads. We sell so much that it goes out as fast as it comes in.

So you get a wider variety of fresher, tenderer meat at Rogers. And remember—Rogers Meat is U. S. inspected.
